Sea Serpents.

Mr. Garman, in a lecture before the Boston Society of Natural History, gave an interesting synopsis of sea snake or sea serpent literature, besides exhibiting a specimen of the real serpent to the astonished audience. The professor first gave an historical resume of the earlier literature upon the subject, going back to the time of Pontoppidan and reviewing it down to date. Further on in his lecture he gave figures of some of the queer marine monsters which have from time to time frightened sailors and others almost to death, deftly drawing each of the figures on a blackboard specially provided for the occasion.

Mr. Garman also spoke of a most remarkable recent discovery which has brought to light a species of shark generally believed to have become extinct many thousands of years ago, the remains of the animal being now found in the rocks of the Devonian system. He is of the opinion that this recently discovered sea tiger is the original of more than one blood curdling sea serpent story. The length and general outlines of this should be fossiled shark are such as to cause any one except a born naturalist to take it for an immense serpent, an opinion which would, of course, be heightened by viewing a dorsal exposure of the creature through a glass in a troubled sea.

Professor Garman does not discredit sea serpent stories, however, and is of the opinion that there are many slimy monsters lying far down upon the bottom of the sea, the like of which human eyes have never yet beheld.—St. Louis Republic.

Professional Men May Advertise.

I am firmly of the opinion that there is a profitable field for development in the direction of advertising by professional men. After giving the subject a good deal of thought and weighing the objections already raised and to be anticipated I have a settled conviction that the lawyer, the doctor, the dentist, the architect or any other professional man can call to his aid the limitless power of printers' ink, and advertise in display type in the advertising columns of the newspaper or magazine to his advantage and without loss of self respect or public estimation. This question has received the attention of professional men as well as the advertising fraternity, and, with due respect to those who have discussed it, I maintain that they have failed to approach the subject from its true point of observation.

I am aware that custom and a supposed unwritten law, which is fostered by the exclusive and super-dignified element of all professions, frown upon the mere mention of this subject. It does not follow that their ban of displeasure and sarcastic comments in any manner reflect upon the enterprising and independent man, who, confident of his own worth, his professional ability, moral and social equality, trampling on custom, appeals to the common sense of the public for the correctness of his acts and motives.—A. L. Teele in Printers' Ink.

WOMEN AND MICE.

The reason why a woman is afraid of a mouse is a profound mystery—indeed, it has never been very clearly proven that she is. But some women are constantly in such a nervous, irritable condition that the slightest thing annoys and startles them. The cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is usually some functional derangement; some distressing or painful irregularity, some derangement or peculiar weakness incident to her sex; or, it may be due to inflammation, ulceration or displacement, of some of the pelvic viscera, or to other organic lesions peculiar to her sex. From whichever cause it may arise, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive remedy, so certain in its curative results that its manufacturers sell it, through druggists, under a guarantee of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" subdues nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other nervous symptoms attendant upon disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves anxiety and despondency.

A. J. Frank of Alturas was shot and killed in that place last Tuesday evening. At an inquest held, the Coroner's Jury rendered a verdict accusing J. W. Harrington of the crime.

According to the appropriation bill now before the Legislature it takes $15,700 to furnish stationery, fuel and light for the State Capitol, and pay porters and night watchmen for two years.

Joe Baruh, the gentlemanly clerk of the White House Clothing Store, left last night for San Francisco, where he goes to attend the marriage ceremonies of his sister, which take place to-morrow.

The ballot for Senator in the California Legislature yesterday stood: Estee, 34; De Young, 24; Blanchard, 11; Felton, 15; Johnston, 4; Wetmore, 1. The Democrats gave Shanahan 26 votes, and Shanahan voted for English.

In the District Court yesterday, Judge Cheney presiding, the case of Foulks vs. Hamlin was argued and submitted. In the case of Foulks vs. the Essex Ice Company argument was commenced in the afternoon and continued until 9 o'clock this morning.

Articles of incorporation for a railroad from Picche to Reno have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State. A. C. Cleveland and Associates are the incorporators and have paid ten per cent of the capital stock. Renoites may wake up one of these mornings and find a new railroad built into town from the southeast.

A chicken contest took place here yesterday between a half blood Japanese owned by General Booton, and a quarter Jap owned by George Hall. The General's bird was heeled and handled by George Mershon, the other by its owner. After fifteen minutes' fighting the General's bird had a wing broken and Hall's lost a gaff. Notwithstanding these disadvantages, the birds, which are pure game, fought for an hour and a half, the Reno bird finally wearing its opponent out, and was declared the victor. Mr. Hall would like to hear from anyone who thinks he has a better breed of chickens than his.

Death of a Honey Lake Pioneer.

SUSANVILLE, Cal., March 11, '91.

EDITORS JOURNAL:—Wm. Wardrup, a former resident of Tuscarora, Nevada, where he leaves a family, died here yesterday of heart disease. He had been living here several months before his death, and was among the early settlers of Honey Lake Valley in Lassen county, in fact a pioneer of the valley. C.

Yesterday afternoon B. F. Leete was driving a colt attached to a road cart near the depot. The colt, frightened by the Virginia & Truckee train, which was leaving the depot, wheeled sideways, causing the cart to collide with a buggy. Mr. Leete was thrown to the ground, and rendered unconscious by the fall. He was conveyed to his home by Dr. Lewis and Alvaro Evans. Fortunately, his injuries were not serious, and Dr. Lewis, who attended him, said last evening that he would be around all right in a day or two.

The Silver State is informed that Miss Cecil McNevins, one of the persons who were injured by an accident at Wadsworth, had her eyebrows completely cut off and was otherwise injured, and that Mrs. Abbey is very dangerously hurt, so much so that the doctors have small hopes of her recovery, as they fear she is injured internally. She is unconscious most of the time. The others who were injured are doing as well as can be expected, although none of them are able to be about as yet.

NEVADA BUSINESS.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY AND WEEKLY RENO JOURNAL, established 20 years. If you want to do business in Nevada advertise in the JOURNAL.

A TELLING CONTRAST.

IN THEIR OLD LIMITED SPHERE WOMEN ARE WELL PAID.

A Comparison Between the Condition of Women Who Do What Used to Be Called Women's Work and Those Who Do What Used to Be Called Men's Work.

The working woman's sphere used to be confined chiefly to household work. And it is a notable fact that in those days the newspapers contained no stories about women dying of starvation and overwork in tenement houses. If anybody died from these causes it was a man.

Descriptions of the agonies of starving workingwomen and their families are now a feature of the penny papers. Only a few days ago a woman in Jersey City who had worked in a big tobacco factory and was thrown out of employment by her advanced years and inability to handle the tobacco leaf as deftly as the younger generation locked herself up in her room to wait till the pangs of hunger snapped the life cord. She almost succeeded.

Such an occurrence twenty years ago would have been commented upon by the newspapers and statesmen all over the country, and the philosophers would have philosophized to the extent of a book on the subject; but so common have such events become in these days since "the extension of women's sphere" that they attract little or no attention. Perhaps some newspaper may, for the purpose of advertising itself, get up a subscription fund to buy a few necessaries for the support, but the average citizen reads the little story without emotion. It disturbs him no more than a view of the dirty streets or a struggle to get a seat in an elevated train.

WHERE WOMAN NEVER STARVES.

And right here it may be asked, in view of the present condition of workingmen, "Has any one ever heard of a woman, sticking to the old limited sphere of working women—domestic service—suffering for lack of the necessaries of life?" The newspapers record no such instances. One would be such a novelty that the ambition of the museum men to secure unheard of curiosities would be aroused.

The fact is that the only women dependent on their daily work for subsistence who are comfortably situated, with a few exceptions, are the domestic servants. All the thrifty ones have their bank accounts, and they don't know what it is to want for food or clothes. Moreover, their labor is comparatively light, and they have real homes.

So thoroughly is this fact recognized that the societies devoted to improving the conditions of working women and helping them in their difficulties with employers exclude servants from their range of work.

Mrs. M. J. Creagh, superintendent of the Working Women's Protective union, gives the reason, as follows:

"The working women in stores, factories and offices need all the assistance the union can give, for they are the sufferers. Women who work as domestics may sometimes have reasonable grounds for complaint, but their condition is so far above that of the other working women that they can always get along comfortably. They can get places whenever they want them, receive good wages, don't know what hunger is, and are well acquainted with the looks of a bank book. They don't need help.

"It is this poor saleswoman, the overworked factory girl and the sewing woman that has to be helped to live.

MRS. CREAGH'S OPINION.

"Considering the board matter, they do not get one-half or one-third as much as the servants and have to work longer. Besides, they are often cheated out of their scant earnings. If they are sick for a time they lose their little pay, and perhaps their places are filled before they recover. The servant girl, on the other hand, gets her wages right along, and if she is in a good family she receives such medical and other attention as the store girl cannot receive. She is, in fact, settled, while her sisters in the world of business depend on their week's salary for food and lodging the following week, and a few days' sickness means to them starvation and inadequate attendance or a journey to a charity hospital.

"Therefore this society gives all its attention to women outside of domestic service. As women go further and further into the business world we have more to do than ever. Every day we have brought to our notice cases where rich employers try to beat women out of sums varying from twenty-five cents to $50.

"The records here show, better than anything I know of, the slavery into which women have been brought of late years. Employers know that women have not the money to pay lawyers to sue for them, so they take advantage of their helplessness whenever they can. It is remarkable, however, that they settle up with great rapidity when the women come here to complain. Our counsel conducts worthy cases free of charge and has got verdicts in the civil courts for more than $50,000 since the union began its work."

When Mrs. Creagh was asked why the wages of girls in factories, stores and offices were so small, she answered in almost the same way as Miss Van Etten did.

Women, she said, took the places of men in many occupations without organizing themselves to obtain fair compensation. They took anything they could get. They expected to get married some time, and their work was a temporary expedient, at first, to obtain pin money. Now many of them find that they have really to support themselves, and their meager wages won't do it. Still they bear their hardships, waiting ever for the gay cavalier who is to come along and relieve them. With some work is a necessity, with others it is not. But few of them seem to consider that men have suffered in consequence of the lower standard of wages.—New York Commercial Advertiser.
